REDD+

We invite you all to the
'2016 REDD+ Workshop'

With a view to mitigating climate change, global efforts are being exerted in reducing greenhouse gases, which are the one of the main causes of climate change. Aligned with these efforts, Republic of Korea has set the Nationally Determined Contributions by 2030 and been seeking for a wide range of different ways to achieve the goal.

The forestry sector of Republic of Korea is also doing its best in order to cut down the greenhouse gas emissions not only from domestic forests but also from overseas ones. Since 2012, NIFoS has been initiatively conducting studies on reducing emissions in developing countries, by combating deforestation and forest degradation. Among them, NIFoS has been carrying out a 5-year study "Strategic Comparison of Asia REDD+ and Establishment of International Co-operation Network" and this will be its final year. In this regard, we are going to hold this international workshop, where we would like to share the experience and outcome derived from the internationally collaborative research in Indonesia. Korea Forest Service, the member states of ASEAN-ROK Forest Cooperation (AFoCo) and Himalayan countries will be invited to the workshop to talk about the policies related to climate change and the experiences from REDD+ projects together.

I hope the workshop will serve as platform for the outstanding experts and all the participants to discuss and resolve climate change issues by utilizing forests or REDD+ and to strengthen our international collaboration.

Nam Sung Hyun, Ph.D.
